

C9 Uhtna Põhikool, Estonia – Making Roses

Since we did not know exactly what was the material used in Cagli, our idea was to find and use our own materials. And to change the idea so they would have a practical use. Since the father's day was approaching, we decided to make edible roses out of various food products. The idea was that the roses would be decorating plates holding sandwiches. For starters, we researched material on Youtube and Pinterest and looked for tools that we could use.

We learned the most about cooking. We learned about hygiene, using knives, food processing, using other various accessories.

One of the goals was to enhance the pupils' taste for beauty in terms of decorating (composition, balance, colours etc).

Students were also told about the red rose symbol in England and roses being used in Bulgaria.
